

Convenience Store & Fuels Marketing

Wooden McLaughlin's Convenience Store & Fuels Marketing Group helps midstream and downstream companies avoid unexpected costs, liabilities, and delays in both one-off transactions and daily business operations.

No matter the size or type of your convenience store or fuel supply transaction, our attorneys have probably handled something similar. That experience makes us confident we can save you time, money, and exposure in the process.

Transactions

To date, Wooden attorneys have provided legal counsel in mergers, joint ventures, acquisitions, dispositions, leasing, development, and other transactions involving nearly 1,000 convenience store properties, hundreds of fuel distribution contracts, and a host of related assets. Here are just a few of the deals in which Wooden attorneys have played a leading role:

- Represented a regional fuel distributor in the formation and structuring of a consolidation/joint venture involving the sale of partial contractual interests in approximately 150 branded fuel supply agreements spanning several states;
- Directed and closed a ± $200 million asset sale involving approximately 200 convenience store properties in several states for a major midstream company exiting the market;
- Organized and directed the acquisition of ± 350 convenience store properties under Bankruptcy Court control for a multi-national convenience store operator;
- Negotiated, documented, and conducted due diligence for a national fuel distributor's prospective ±$70 million asset purchase involving 32 branded and unbranded convenience store properties and a substantial fuel supply network; and
- Represented a multi-national convenience store operator in a ±$100 million acquisition of ±200 NTI sites from a single big-box retailer.

Business Operations

The attorneys in Wooden's Convenience Store & Fuels Marketing Group also advise and represent midstream and downstream players with respect to the legal aspects and implications of their day-to-day operations. Wooden practice areas with particular applicability to the ownership and operation of midstream and downstream enterprises include:

- Business and corporate services
- Employment law
- Environmental law
- Real estate, zoning, and land use
- Litigation

Key Contacts

- Mark L. Boos

Attorneys

- Samantha R. Hargitt

Related Practice Areas

- Acquisition, Development & Disposition
- Business Disputes
- Commercial Finance
- Commercial Leasing
- Environmental
- Environmental Litigation
- Insurance Coverage Counseling & Litigation
- Landlord/Tenant Disputes

- Mergers & Acquisitions
- Premises Liability
- Real Estate Disputes
- Tax Advice
- Zoning & Land Use

Related Articles

- Boos Published in The Oil Can
- Chambers USA Ranks Wooden McLaughlin Band 1 Real Estate Firm
- Don't Let Letters of Intent Land You in Litigation
- How to Minimize Legal Risks in Your LOI's
- What You Need to Know about the Updated ALTA Survey Standards