

Creditors' Rights & Loan-Related Disputes

Lenders, borrowers and guarantors struggling with secured loans in default need help with workouts, foreclosures, receiverships, bankruptcies and judgment enforcements. Our first-hand experience with the underlying transactions, combined with our litigation skills, make Wooden McLaughlin the ideal choice. We understand the rights of both creditors and debtors and know how to protect those rights in court. We pride ourselves on achieving maximum financial protection through cost-effective service.

We also represent mortgage loan servicers in a wide variety of consumer finance cases. Those actions may relate to the National Housing Act, Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act, Truth in Lending Act, Indiana Deceptive Consumer Sales Act, Fair Debt Collection Practices Act and Fair Credit Reporting Act. Our litigators also handle contested residential mortgage foreclosures, title insurance claims and tax sale disputes. Whatever the claim, the firm's trial attorneys are equipped to protect the interests of lenders and their servicers.

Key Contacts

- John D. Waller

Attorneys

- Matthew M. Adolay
- James M. Boyers
- James A. Carter
- Thomas W. Dinwiddie
- Greg J. Freyberger
- Thomas M. Hanahan

- Robert F. Inselberg
- Matthew B. Millis
- Amy L. VonDielingen

Related Articles

- Indiana Commercial Foreclosure Law Blog Reaches Milestone
- Wooden McLaughlin Welcomes New Associates