

Professional Liability

Wooden McLaughlin lawyers frequently represent law firms, real estate agents and brokers, engineers, securities industry personnel and other professionals in pre-litigation and litigation matters, including the defense of professional liability claims. We are often called upon to litigate breach of standard of care, defamation, malicious prosecution, and abuse of civil process cases. We understand that when professional reputations are at issue, the stakes are high. We also understand the stresses that professional liability claims impose on our clients. We work hard to mitigate those stresses and to provide responsive and sensitive assistance to our clients. We have achieved favorable outcomes for clients by dispositive motions, in alternative dispute resolution, including mediation and arbitration, and in trials. Wooden McLaughlin lawyers are honored to have been selected by multiple law firms, real estate developers, accountants, educators, agents and brokers to defend their interests in matters arising from their professional services. Professionals we have represented include:

- Attorneys
- Architects
- Engineers
- Property Appraisers
- Real Estate Agents and Brokers
- Securities Industry Personnel
- Universities and their Administrators

Key Contacts

- Daniel D. Trachtman

Attorneys

- Matthew M. Adolay

- John C. Babione
- James M. Boyers
- Michele S. Bryant
- Jere A. Rosebrock
- Elizabeth Steele Schmitt
- Travis R. Smith
- Michael G. Smith
- Crystal S. Wildeman

Related Articles

- Wooden McLaughlin Achieves Multiple Ratings in 2019 Best Law Firms
- Best Lawyers in America Honors 20 Wooden Partners in 25th Edition; Three Named “Lawyer of the Year”